Public notes

Note	Added by
Intake Years 2006 and 2007: 1. Students must pass at the first attempt, without referral or condonement, a practical, problem solving, ISE final year project deomonstrating the application of engineering principles. 2. Graduates must have taken at least two thirds of their modules in ISE. 3. The Department must supply to the Society, on an annual basis, a list of those students achieving these conditions.	BCS, The Chartered Institute for IT
For BCS: 2002-2005: Students pass at the first attempt, without referral or condonement, a practical, problem solving, computing final year project demonstrating the application of engineering principles. The Department must supply to the Society a list of those students achieving the above. Graduates must have taken at least two thirds of their study in computing.	Engineering Council
For BCS: 1990-1996: The final year project must be passed and must have an information systems content. Engineering in Society essay, amended to include ethical issues, must be taken.	Engineering Council
For BCS: 1997-2001: Graduates must have taken at least three quarters of their modules in computing and must pass at the first attempt, without referral or condonement, a practical problem-solving computing final year project demonstrating the application of engineering principles.	Engineering Council
For InstMC: Accreditation is conditional on satisfactory completion of the Information Engineering course.	Engineering Council
For IEE: Accreditation between 1997 and 2001 is conditional on the completion of final year project of an engineering or engineering management nature, with a strong technical bias.	Engineering Council
